

Teen Leadership

South Wood County Teen Leadership is a hands-on program for high school sophomores who have the potential to become involved in their school and community – it's a program for new leaders, not those already serving in leadership positions. Since 2006, over 225 students from five local high schools have graduated from Teen Leadership.

Participation includes curriculum, meeting a community leader, grantmaking, and a community project. ►

"There are different types of leaders and all are highly effective in their own way."

How does Teen Leadership work?

Meeting once a month, August through May, participants . . .

- Learn about adaptive leadership through Sean Covey's book, 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens
- Have fun and expand their world by building relationships with peers from five local school districts
- Experience the importance of teamwork and collaboration, and gain confidence in organizing others to reach a common goal
- Learn and use adaptive skills (communication, leadership, conflict management, decision making and time management)
- Select, plan and complete a community service project
- Review applications and award a $2,000 grant to one local nonprofit that is addressing teen issues
- Discover ways to identify and use community resources toward positive change
- Meet a community leader to learn about leadership in action
- Learn how civic engagement and philanthropy support a community that works well for all people
- Develop a better understanding of the south Wood County area and the role that teens can play

How do I apply?

Students may apply in the spring of their freshman year for participation during their sophomore year. Application forms are at all high schools in Nekoosa, Pittsville, Port Edwards and Wisconsin Rapids. Complete the form which includes consent signatures of a parent/guardian and the school principal, and provide one letter of recommendation. Mail to Incourage Community Foundation.

The Teen Leadership Advisory Committee selects participants from all schools in the south Wood County area, representing public, private and home schools, diverse backgrounds and various decision-making styles and perspectives. Once selected, a $50 participant fee is payable at Orientation in August; scholarships may be available for applicants seeking financial assistance for the fee.
